

Draft: 20th August 1993

POETRY-MAKING AND POLICY-MAKING

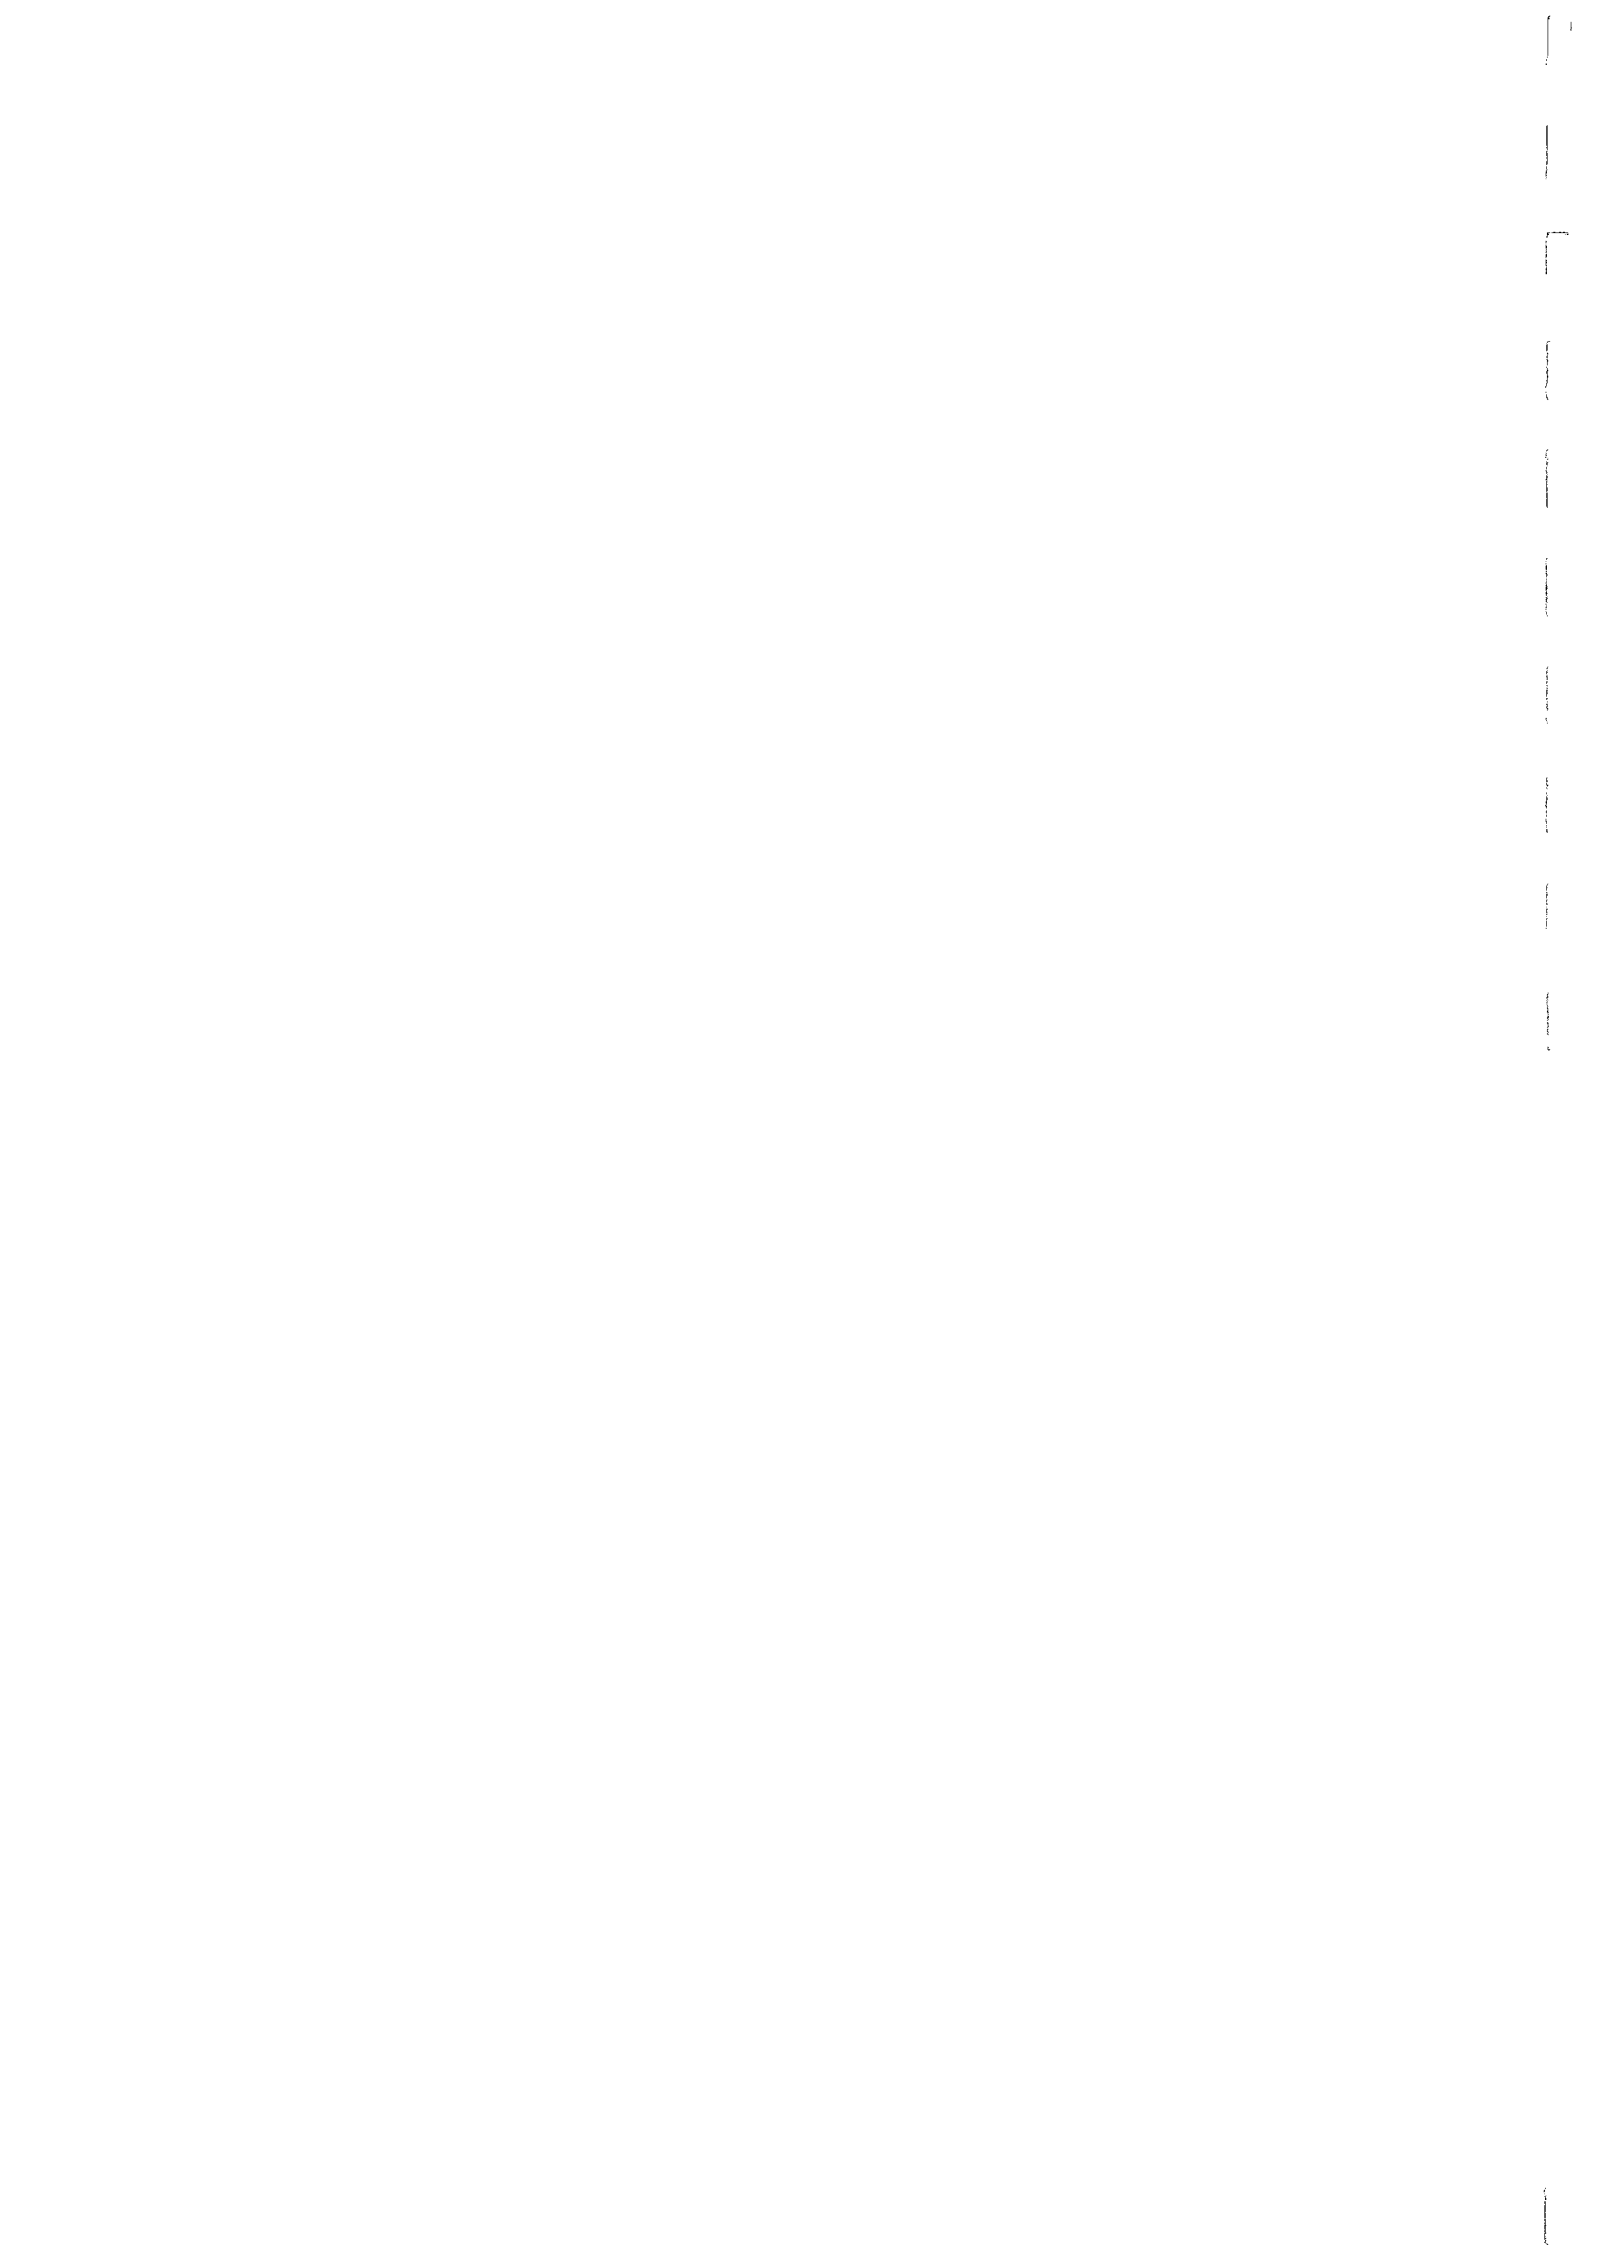

Arranging a Marriage between Beauty and the Beast

Anthony J N Judge

Presentation prepared for the
Schule für Dichtung in Wien / School of Poetry in Vienna
(Vienna, 13th September 1993)

Rendered searchable by OCR, but recognition errors may prevent this in some cases. PHP variants (incomplete tables) via <http://www.laetusinpraesens.org/docs/poetpol0.php>

Union of International Associations
40 rue Washington, B-1050 Brussels, Belgium

CONTENTS

Part I: Possibilities of a marriage between Beauty and the Beast	2
1. Marriage prospects	2
(a) Similarities between poetry-making and policy-making
(b) Viability of a marriage	2
(c) Urgency	3
(d) Creating a new nexus	3
(e) Challenge of the marriage	4
(f) Differences between poetry-making and policy-making	4
(g) A marriage of opposites	5
(h) Need for recognition of limitations	5
(i) Overtures and inversions	6
2. Overtures of the Beast	6
(a) Military and sporting events	6
(b) Corporations	6
(c) Politics	6
(d) Work	7
(e) Advertising	7
(f) Religion	7
(g) Sciences	7
(h) Education and training mnemonics	8
3. Overtures of Beauty	8
(a) Challenge to the subculture	8
(b) Isolation from public life	9
(c) Institutionalization of poetry	9
(d) Why poetry matters	9
(e) Poetry and corporate life	10
(g) Poetry in a divided world	11
(h) Liberation poetry	12
(i) Product or process: the challenge of how?	13
4. Voice of the matchmaker	13
(a) Quality vs Complexity	14
(b) Autopoiesis and self-organization	15
(c) Systems of knowledge: Techne vs Episteme	16
(d) Cycles and Phasing	17
(e) Cognitive function and metaphor	17
(f) Organizational science in a postmodern context	17
(g) Metaphor and policy-making	18
(h) Mathematics and poetry	18
(i) Poetics of scientific hypothesis formation	19
(j) What is meta for?	20
(k) Therapeutic metaphors	21
(l) Light of the mind	22
(m) Articulation of policy guidelines in poetic form	22
(n) Complementarity	23
(o) Interwoven alternatives: resonance hybrids	23

Part II: Mutual Entrainment	24
1. Poetic configuration of policy guidelines	25
(a) Thematic choice	25
(b) Appropriateness	25
(c) Imagination and originality	25
(d) Challenge	26
(e) Insight capture and control	26
(f) Acknowledging/Honouring/Dignifying	26
(g) Coherence and integrity	26
(h) Energy holding / Enthralling	26
(i) Focus	26
(j) Resonance and relevance	27
(k) Rhythm and pacing	27
(l) Image building	27
(m) Metaphor	27
2. Poesis: Enhancement of policy through key poetic insights	27
(a) Poetic language	28
(b) Multiple meanings	28
(c) Hidden effects of syntax	28
(d) Perspectives-orientation and context creation	29
(e) Metaphor and enhanced perspective	29
(f) Liberating images and comprehension	30
(g) Evoking imaginative involvement	30
(h) Handling complexities beyond ordinary language	30
(i) Handling contradictions	31
(j) Modelling patterns of relationship	31
(k) Suggestive associations	31
(l) Higher forms of order	31
(m) Avoidance of polarization into excess detail or over-generalization	32
(n) Meter and rhythm	32
(o) From explication to motivation	33
(p) Interlocking lines of significance	33
(q) Creative confrontation of differences	33
(r) Integrative comprehension	34
(s) Challenging paradigms	35
(t) Working with polarizations and irrationality	35
3. Poetic discourse as a metaphor of future policy-making	35
Part III: Marriage Consummation and Progeny	37
1. Vision of a poetic policy project	38
(a) New modes of discourse	38
(b) Templates, keystones and catalysts	39
(c) Envisaging meetings of the future	39
(d) Styles of aesthetic and policy endeavour	39
2. Envisioning the policy-making experience of the future	39
(a) Paradigmatic courtship	39
(b) Language creation	40
(c) New forms	40
(d) Engagement of attention	40

(e) Mnemonic features	41
(f) Beyond text to multi-media	41
(g) Learning from harmony	41
(h) Musical organization	42
(i) Cyclic organization of policies and programmes	42
(j) Adaptation of musical notation	42
(k) Differences and dissonances	42
(l) Group creativity	43
3. Policy discourse through metaphor	43
4. Criteria for selection of metaphors	45
(a) Adequate to capture the variety of options	45
(b) Opening options	45
(c) Recognition of limitations	46
(d) Dynamic system of complementarity metaphors	46
(e) Recursive nature of metaphors selected	46
5. Cultivating new conceptual languages	46
6. Magic, miracles and image-building	48
(a) Magic as an interface between poetry and policy-making	49
(b) Image-building, policy-making and science	49
(c) How is magic to be understood?	49
(d) Sharing metaphors towards transformation	50
(e) Worldviews and transformations	50
(f) Magical arts	51
(g) Spell-casting	51
(h) Guided visualization	51
(i) Ritual pattern-making	52
(j) Magical perversions	52
7. Pattern, configuration and "deep epistemology"	53
8. Inventing reality: "talking it up" through configured imagery	54
9. Potential role of computer audio-visual technology	56
10. The process of conception and the transformative moment	58
 Part IV: Clues towards Transformative Congressing	 59
1. Comment	60
2. Envisioning the perfect meeting	60
3. Integrative failure	62
4. Integrative skills	63
5. Meeting focus: a description	64
6. Meeting focus: a checklist	66

7. Loosing meeting focus	67
8. Focus subtleties: meeting magic	68
9. Complementarity metaphors of discourse	69
10. Configurative metaphors	71
11. Self-constraining configurations: energy dissipation	73
12. Self-constraining configurations: communication patterns	74
13. Meetings as metaphors	75
14. Modelling meetings: analogies and metaphors	76
15. Participant interaction modes	78
16. Differences in styles of artistic and policy endeavour	79
17. Participant personality needs and problems	83
18. Participant entrapment: alienation of committed activists	83
19. Participant entrapment: repetition of learning cycles	84
20. Non-linear agendas and linear thinking	85
21. Pattern language for participants	86
Part V: Bibliographical References and Notes	90